Polemics. Apologetics and polemics are opposites of one another -- two sides of the same coin. Whereas apologetics is to clarify truth claims one holds to be true, polemics is used to argue against the truth claims of another. It is to give a reasonable, rational defense of why you believe ideas held by others as true are in fact not true. It is to tear down the false truth claims of someone or something else. The keynote verses from the Bible used to define the concept of polemics is 2 ...
